Every one of us has bad moments or days but to have difficult and bad yeas is something over.

Our story today is about the student Fadel Jadaan who told us his experience when he and his family obliged to leave their town and walked for days until they reached Lebanon.

He said, "I left my country in 2015 and I thought to be in another country would be better than mine. However, when I reached Lebanon, I found the life more difficult. Instead of going to a school to study, I forced to work in a shop to help my family."

As his teacher, I spoke with his father who told me about the sadness and difficulties the family faced. The family also went to Sudan as a thought the life would be better but in vain. Fadel said, "I felt sad when I saw the boys went to their schools wearing the school uniform and study. In addition, I felt depressed when I thought my dream and to be a doctor gone with the wind."

At last, he came to Qatar in late December 2019. His father contacted Assalm School after his relative had spoken about the school and how good the administration and the stuff are. He said, "My father told me and my brothers about the school and immediately my mind took me to my dream although I haven't studied yet. I asked myself; Could I start again after all these years?"

The father told me about the great moments when his kids jump and hug each other as if they have already started studying and accepting in the school.

Now Fadel regains his confidence. Besides, he is waiting the lessons with love and hope to achieve his ambitious. He can speak with teachers and does his homework. He said, "It is good 'at last' to find teachers who interested to me. In addition, I am happy to have good health in very good school that I hope to complete my studying in this wonderful country."

As a teacher in Assalm school, I feel with great compassion to work with these simple people who search to achieve some of the knowledge that they had forgotten for years. Moreover, the great kindness is when the school tries to give them something they need. You can see the smile and the happiness in their faces.

As our vision see, to have educational society that enable people to think about the future and struggle to achieved what they had passed is something important. This is one example in our story. The student who has the eager to study and to survive although of all the bad circumstances.

"In the first semester, you made achievements despite the difficulties and challenges, and no one can ignore them. With your knowledge and giving, you raised the capabilities of our students, and you established a better future for this generation.

Today we look forward to tomorrow with the same vigor, even if the education is remote and you are also in your high aspirations.

Together, we will build in their minds a wonderful future, which will only be achieved by you.

I thank you for what you have provided, and look forward to more of what you will offer.

With regards and appreciation, Dr.. Yahya Al-Agha general supervisor
